A NOBLE BOY.

And Father Could Never Forget Him.

Macon, Mo., Nov. 1.—News of the suicide of C. C. Voorhies at Siloam Springs, Ark., said to be caused by the death of his son, Thomas, which occurred in May, 1900, recalls one of the saddest events that has ever taken place here.

Young Voorhies was an only child. He was a handsome manly young fellow of 17, and a great favorite with his teachers as well as his fellow students at the Blue Military Academy. On the afternoon of May 12, his chum, Samuel Buckingham, was swimming in the south lake of the academy grounds. A number of boys were standing around the edge of the water. Suddenly Buckingham threw up his arms and began bobbing up and down.

Voorhies saw the danger his friend was in and jumped into the water, but before he reached Buckingham he was seized with a cramp and went under. A board was thrown to Buckingham and in the excitement of rescuing him the boys didn't notice Voorhies' condition until too late.

The dead end was immensely popular in Macon. His casket was accompanied to the train by a detail of cadets, and a salute was fired by the Hoteliers' batteries as it came to a stand at the academy grounds. The baggage car was massed with floral designs, tributes from the academy and the cadet's friends. The funeral occurred at Mexico, where the young hero's parents lived.

Mr. Voorhies had never been the same man since the death of his son, and his fragile ending in Arkansas was not much of a surprise to those acquainted with him.

MUST PUBLISH.

If You Are Going to Get Married.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 3.—The Kansas City court of appeals decided today that the county officials who issue marriage licenses must make an entry in a book open to public inspection of each marriage license when it is issued. This decision is important, because it will put a stop to the practice, so long followed in this and other counties in Missouri, of suppressing marriage licenses. It has been the custom of some recorders in this county to suppress marriage licenses when the couple would pay fee for it. The court's decision today was made in the case of Hugh Stephens, editor of a newspaper in Jefferson City, against Osborne L. Moore, recorder of that county. Moore had a feeling of enmity for Stephens, and would not let him have the list of marriage licenses for publication, but allowed rival papers to have them.

FELL 2,000 FEET.

Woman's Body Crushed and Broken.

Anna, Ill., Nov. 4.—Dora Morrison of Galesburg, Ill., an inexperienced aeronaut, fell from her balloon here today and was dashed to pieces. She had ascended to a height of 2,000 feet, hanging by her arms as she had started, being unable to draw her body up to the trapeze bar.

Prof. Schwartz, who regularly makes excursions for the Fisk and Snyder Carnival Company, exhibiting here this week, endeavored to persuade the 19-year-old girl not to go up, although she had made two successful ascensions at Lincoln last week, where she joined the company.

She insisted and, as she was ready to start, refused to allow him to fasten the life line to the trapeze bar. It was evident to the balloonmen and thousands of spectators that she had not made a proper start. In vain she struggled to draw her body up to the trapeze, but each effort only exhausted so much strength.

Finally the climax was reached, when the form was seen to quiver and leave the balloon. Over and over it turned until the body was crushed and broken against the earth.

The lifeless body presented a horrible sight. The carnival attractions closed after this and will not open the doors until tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

"I do not look as though I ever was sick."

When a woman is sick she falls off in health. This is particularly the case when she suffers from diseases peculiar to her sex. Not only is her strength undermined, but she loses beauty of face and grace of form.

It is characteristic of the cures of womanly diseases effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that with restored health there is a restoration of good looks.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, drives weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advertiser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

WADED IN.

Gamblers Fell Over Themselves Trying to Get Away.

Missouri, I. T. Nov. 2.—Last night Mrs. Emma Welsh, a respected and intelligent woman who lives at Port Gibson, smashed up a gambling house with an axe and caused a great excitement. She climbed to the top of a blacksmith shop from which she reached a second story window opening to the gambling hall. With an axe she smashed the windows and was inside before the gamblers knew what had happened. She saw her husband inside and the infuriated woman did not stop until she had demolished all the furniture about the place while the gamblers were falling all over themselves trying to get away.

The woman claims the officers refused to stop gambling and that she was determined her husband should be robbed no more, so she waded in. No arrests have been made and there is a strong anti-gambling sentiment at Port Gibson.
